

Transforming Clinical Practice Initiative

Are you ready for the Quality Payment Program (QPP)?

About Telligen and Quality Innovation Networks- Quality Improvement Organizations (QIN-QIOs)

The Centers for Medicare & Medicaid Services leads a national healthcare quality improvement program, implemented locally by an independent network of QIOs in each state and territory.

The Telligen QIN-QIO convenes healthcare providers, practitioners and patients and families to build and share knowledge, spread best practices, and achieve rapid and wide-scale improvements in patient care, population health, and healthcare costs. Telligen does not initiate nor manage quality of care concerns or appeals.

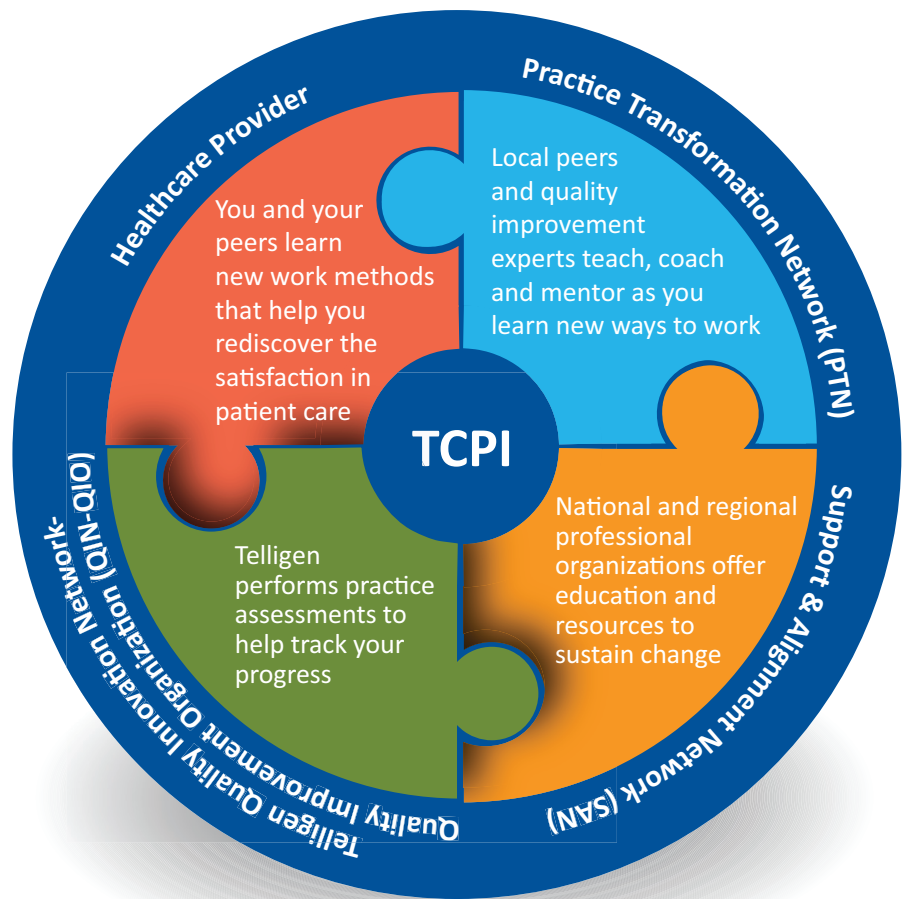

Other Telligen quality improvement services for physician practices include:

- Healthcare data analysis
- Technical support for the Quality Payment Program (QPP)
- Health information technology and electronic health record support
- Team quality improvement training

The Transforming Clinical Practice Initiative (TCPI) collaboration is a new federal program that brings you the expertise and insights of healthcare and quality improvement specialists to help your practice perform better for you and your patients. You'll learn proven techniques to better engage patients and families in their care. You'll address barriers to practice efficiency and effectiveness. And you'll discover new ways to work that bring back the joy in healing. TCPI makes total clinical practice transformation attainable.
